

THE BONNET

I have many memories of Granny Ewing. One of those is the Bonnet she sometimes wore when working outside in the garden. I don't recall who gave it to her, but I remember that she loved it, and some of the grandchildren couldn't help but snicker a little. This was not out of disrespect mind you, it's just that we thought things like that only happened in the history books. I found a photo of her with her bonnet. I'm not sure who took this either, but I sure am glad they did.
